

FBWA Access Points

The equipment of this type is designed for organization of wireless connection over long distances (from hundreds meters to several kilometers) by using directional antennae. For example, it includes projects of providing services in a private sector by placing a base station with sectoral antennae on a tower, and installing counter client Wi-Fi equipment on customer houses.

The line of FBWA Wi-Fi access points produced by Eltex Enterprise is represented by models: